Contact Agency: Office of Elementary and Secondary Education, Department of Education

Covered Services & Activities: Subgrants are used for activities such as recruitment and screening of children and parents, design of programs, instruction of children and parents, support services, staff training, evaluation, and coordination with other programs. Funds may not be used for indirect costs.

Applicant Eligibility: State educational agencies (SEAs). FY '01 Est. Appropriations: $141,250,000

Related Programs: 84.002, Adult Education—State Grant Program; 84.010, Title I Grants to Local Educational Agencies; 84.011, Migrant Education—Basic State Grant Program; 93.600, Head Start.

Title I Grants to Local Educational Agencies (84.010)

Authorization: Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, Title I, Part A, 20 U.S.C. 6301 et seq.

Contact Agency: Office of Elementary and Secondary Education, Department of Education
www.ed.gov/offices/OESE

Objectives: To help local education agencies (LEAs) and schools improve the teaching and learning of children failing, or most at-risk of failing, to meet challenging State academic standards.

Covered Services & Activities: Use of funds varies, depending on whether a school is operating a school wide program under Section 1114 of Title I or a targeted assistance program under Section 1115. A school with at least a 50 percent poverty rate may choose to operate a school wide program under Section 1115 that allows Title I funds to be combined with other Federal, State, and local funds to upgrade the school's overall instructional program. All other participating schools must operate targeted assistance programs, and select children deemed most needy for Title I services. Targeted assistance programs must ensure that Title I services supplement, not supplant the regular education programs normally provided by State and local educational agencies.

Applicant Eligibility: State educational agencies (SEAs) and the Secretary of the Interior. Local educational agencies (LEAs) and Indian tribal schools are subgrantees.

Beneficiary Eligibility: Children who are failing, or most at risk of failing, to meet challenging State academic standards.

Flow of Funds: The statute includes three separate formulas for allocating Title I Grants to LEAs. Under the statute, Basic and Concentration Grants are funded at the 1995 appropriation level. Basic Grants are allocated to almost all local educational agencies based on each State's per-pupil expenditure for education and the number of school-aged children from low-income families. Concentration Grants are allocated to LEAs having more than 6,500 children from low-income families or a poverty rate of more than 15 percent. In addition, funds appropriated in excess of the fiscal year 1995 level are to be distributed as targeted grants, which make higher payments to counties with higher numbers or percentages of poor children. The Bureau of Indian Affairs, Outlying Areas, and the Pacific Regional Education Laboratory also receive funding. Within LEAs, school officials target funds to schools with the greatest numbers of poor children. Although Basic Grants and Concentration Grants are allocated to LEAs through different formulas, school districts combine these funds for use as a single program.

FY '01 Est. Appropriations: $8,357,500,000

Related Programs: 84.011, Migrant Education—Basic State Grant Program; 84.013, Title I Program for Neglected and Delinquent Children.

All aspects of the educational process are aligned including, but not limited to assessments, curriculum, professional development, and preservice training. To provide discretionary grants to LEAs in States that were not participating in Goals 2000 as of October 20, 1995, if the SEA approves the LEAs' participation in the program. These grants support the development and implementation of comprehensive local improvement plans directed at enabling all children to reach challenging academic standards; and professional development and pre-service training.

Covered Services & Activities: In years two through five, at least 90 percent of awards to SEAs must be used to make subgrants to LEAs for the implementation of State and local improvement plans and to improve educator preservice programs and for professional development activities. Applicant Eligibility: All States, Puerto Rico, the District of Columbia, American Samoa, Northern Marianas, Guam, Virgin Islands, Palau, Marshall Islands, Micronesia, the Alaska Federation of Natives, and the Bureau of Indian Affairs may apply. Only SEAs that have received approval from the Secretary of Education of their State improvement plan or that submit the required assurances, benchmarks and timelines are eligible for third, fourth, and fifth year funding.

Objectives: To provide financial assistance to States for payments of medical assistance on behalf of cash assistance recipients, children, pregnant women, and the aged who meet income and resource requirements, and other categorically-eligible groups. In certain States that elect to provide such coverage, medically-needy persons, who, except for income and resources, would be eligible for cash assistance, may be eligible for medical assistance payments under this program. Financial assistance is provided to States to pay for Medicare premiums, copayments and deductibles of qualified Medicare beneficiaries meeting certain income requirements. More limited financial assistance is available for certain Medicare beneficiaries with higher incomes. This entitlement program has no federally imposed appropriation limit. The federal contribution is determined by the rate of state/federal match.

Covered Services & Activities: States have a good deal of discretion as to which services they will include in the state Medicaid plan. Mandated services for the categorically needy are, in- and out-patient hospital services; rural health clinic services; federally-qualified health center services; other laboratory and x-ray services; nursing facility services, home health services for persons over age 21; family planning services; physicians' services; early and periodic screening, diagnosis, and treatment for individuals under age 21; pediatric or family nurse practitioner services; and services furnished by a nurse-midwife as licensed by the States. For the medically needy, States are required to provide a minimum mix of services for which Federal financial participation is available (see section 1902(a)(10)(C)(iv) of the Social Security Act).

Applicant Eligibility: State and local welfare agencies must operate under an HHS-approved Medicaid State Plan and comply with all Federal regulations governing aid and medical assistance to the needy.

Beneficiary Eligibility: Low-income persons who are over age 65, blind or disabled, members of families with dependent children, low-income children and pregnant women, certain Medicare beneficiaries and, in many States, medically-needy individuals may apply to a State or local welfare agency for medical assistance. Eligibility is determined by the State in accordance with Federal regulations.

Flow of Funds: Federal funds are available to match State expenditures for medical care. Under the Act, the Federal share for medical services may range from 50 percent to 83 percent. The statistical factors used for fund allocation are: (1) medical assistance expenditures by State; and (2) per capita income by State based on a 3-year average (source, "Personal Income," Department of Commerce, Bureau of Economic Analysis). Statistical factors for eligibility do not apply to this program. This program has maintenance of effort (MOE) requirements, see funding agency for further details.

FY '01 Est. Appropriations: $124,175,254,000

Medicaid's Early and Periodic Screening, Diagnosis and Treatment Program (EPSDT)

Authorization: Social Security Act, Title XIX

Contact Agency: Health Care Financing Administration, Department of Health and Human Services
<http://hcfa.hhs.gov>

Objectives: To provide comprehensive, well-child health care services and medically necessary treatment services to all Medicaid-eligible children ages birth through 21. EPSDT is a required component of stated Medicaid programs.

Covered Services & Activities: Screening services include a comprehensive health screen including unclothed physical examination, health and developmental history, hearing and vision test, immunizations, and any necessary laboratory tests. EPSDT also requires dental services, hearing services, and vision services. Any diagnostic and treatment services, which is medically necessary to ameliorate a condition detected in a screen, and is available under the federal Medicaid statute must be provided, even if it is not included in the state Medicaid plan.

Beneficiary Eligibility: All Medicaid-eligible children ages birth through 21 years.

Flow of Funds: Since EPSDT is a required component of state Medicaid programs, the flow of funds is the same as the general Medicaid program.

State Children's Insurance Program (CHIP) (93.767)

Authorization: Balanced Budget Act of 1997, Title XXI, Subtitle J, Section 4901, Public Law 105-33; Public Law 105-100.

Contact Agency: Health Care Financing Administration, Department of Health and Human Services
<http://hcfa.hhs.gov>

Objectives: To provide funds to States to enable them to initiate and expand child health assistance to uninsured, low-income children. Assistance should be provided primarily by two methods: (1) Obtain health insurance coverage that meets the requirements in Section 2103 relating to the amount, duration, and scope of benefits; or (2) expand eligibility for children under the State's Medicaid program.

Covered Services & Activities: No State is eligible for payments for child health assistance for coverage provided prior to October 1, 1997. Standards used to determine eligibility may include those related to geographic areas to be served by the plan. Age, income and resources, residency, disability status (as long as the standard does not restrict eligibility), access to or coverage under other health coverage, and duration of eligibility are factors. Standards may not discriminate on the basis of diagnosis. Eligibility standards must not cover higher-income children without covering lower-income children and must not deny eligibility based on a child having a preexisting medical condition. The State must ensure that only targeted low-income children are furnished child health assistance under the plan. Children found through screening to be eligible for Medicaid are to be enrolled in Medicaid. The insurance provided under the State plan does not substitute for coverage under group health plans. Coordination with other public and private programs providing creditable coverage for low-income children should occur. Child Health Assistance (other than Medicaid), must consist of any of the following: Benchmark coverage; benchmark equivalent coverage (which can be FEHBP-equivalent coverage); State employee coverage or coverage offered through the HMO with the largest insured commercial non-Medicaid enrollment in the State; existing comprehensive State-based coverage; or Secretary-approved coverage. A State child health plan must include a description of the amount (if any) of cost-sharing and must be in accordance with a public schedule. Cost-sharing may be varied in a way that does not favor higher-income children over lower-income children. No cost-sharing is permitted for well-baby and well-child care, including age-appropriate immunizations. Cost-sharing for children at 150 percent of poverty must be consistent with Medicaid, Cost-sharing for children at 150 percent of poverty and above must be based on an income-related sliding scale. The annual aggregate for all children in a family cannot exceed 5 percent of the family's income. The State child health plan may not impose pre-existing condition exclusions for covered benefits. States that provide for benefits through a group health plan or group health insurance coverage may permit pre-existing condition exclusions as allowed under the applicable Section of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) and the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA). Funds provided to a State under this Title may only be used to carry out the purposes of this Title. Health insurance coverage provided may include coverage of abortion only if necessary to save the life of the mother or if the pregnancy is the result of an act of rape or incest. States may spend up to 10 percent of their total CHIP expenditures (Federal and State) on non-benefit activities, including: outreach conducted to identify and enroll eligible children in CHIP; administration costs; health services initiatives; and other child health assistance. These expenditures are matched at the enhanced CHIP matching rate and counted against both the 10 percent limit and the allotment. Monetary amounts provided by the Federal government, or services assisted or subsidized to any significant extent by the Federal government, may not be included in determining the amount of nonfederal contributions required for State matching purposes.

Applicant Eligibility: All States and Territories may apply.

Beneficiary Eligibility: Targeted low-income children will benefit. These children are defined (for the purposes of Title XXI) as children who have been determined eligible by the State for child health assistance under their State plan; are low-income children; or are children whose family income exceeds the Medicaid applicable income level but does not exceed 50 percentage points above the Medicaid applicable income level; and are not found to be eligible for medical assistance under Title

XIX or covered under a group health plan or under health insurance coverage. This term does not include a child that is a member of a family that is eligible for health benefits coverage under a State health benefits plan on the basis of a family member's employment with a public agency in the State.

Flow of Funds: Section 2105(b), Title XI, provides for an "enhanced Federal Matching Assistance Percentage (FMAP)" for child health assistance provided under Title XI that is equal to the current FMAP for the fiscal year in the Medicaid Title XIX program, increased by 30 percent of the difference between 100 and the current FMAP for that fiscal year. The enhanced FMAP may not exceed 85 percent. The formula for determining the final allotment includes: determining the number of States with approved State plans as of the end of the fiscal year. In order for a State to receive a final allotment for a fiscal year, HCFA must approve the CHIP State plan for that State by the end of the fiscal year. Only States with approved State plans by the end of the fiscal year will be included in the final allotment calculation. States' final allotments will be determined in accordance with the statutory formula that is based on two factors: (1) Number of children (those potentially eligible for CHIP), and (2) the State cost factor. These factors will be multiplied to yield a final allotment project for each State. Once the final allotment project has been determined for all the States with approved CHIP plans, the products for each State will be added to determine a national total. Each State's product will be divided by this national total to determine a State specific percentage of the national Title available amount for allotment that each State would be eligible to receive. The State specific percentage is then multiplied by the national total amount available for allotment, resulting in the final allotment for each State.

Objectives: To enable individuals with developmental disabilities to become independent, productive, integrated and included into their communities. Funding under these programs is to assist States in the development of a plan for a comprehensive and coordinated system of services and other activities to enhance the lives of individuals with developmental disabilities and their families to their maximum potential, and to support a system which protects the legal and human rights of individuals with developmental disabilities.

Covered Services & Activities: (1) Allotments under the basic developmental disabilities formula grant program may be used by States for priority area and other activities, including administrative costs, to build capacity, to refocus existing services, and to advocate to better meet the needs of individuals with developmental disabilities. The designated State agency in each State receives, accounts for and disburses funds, and provides for required assurances and other administrative support services on behalf of the State Developmental Disabilities Council, which carries out the priority area activity and other activities under an approved triennial State Plan. This plan and corresponding budget is developed and administered by the State Developmental Disabilities Council. Federal funds may be expended for up to half the cost of the functions of the designated State agency under this program, but may not exceed five percent of a State's allotment or $50,000, whichever is less. (2) Allotments under the protection and advocacy program may be used to assist States in supporting a system which will have authority to pursue legal and other remedies to protect the rights of individuals with developmental disabilities within the State.

Applicant Eligibility: State grant agencies are the designated State agencies of the respective States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands, American Samoa. Under the basic developmental disabilities program, the designated State agency must not provide or pay for services to individuals with developmental disabilities, unless it has held such designation continuously since June 30, 1988. The State can only receive funding under the basic developmental disabilities program if it is also participating in the protection and advocacy program. The agency designated to implement the State system under the protection and advocacy program cannot provide or pay for services to individuals with developmental disabilities, and that agency must have authority to obtain access to records of individuals with developmental disabilities, and laws that prohibit such access must have been inapplicable by October 31, 1991.

Beneficiary Eligibility: To be eligible for a grant, an agency must be designated to administer the program on behalf of the State. The Basic Program benefits individuals with developmental disabilities through systems change. The Protection and Advocacy system benefits individuals with developmental disabilities. Developmental disability is defined here as a severe chronic disability of an individual 5 years old or older, that is attributable to mental, physical, or a combination of impairments, is manifested before age 22, that is likely to continue indefinitely, that results in substantial functional limitations in three or more of the following major life activities (self-care, receptive and expressive language, learning, mobility, self-direction, capacity for independent living, and economic self-sufficiency), and that reflects an individual's lifelong need for services. Infants and children under age 5 are included if they have a developmental delay or condition with a high probability of resulting in developmental disabilities if services are not provided.

Flow of Funds: Allocation Criteria and/or Mathematical Calculations: Two-thirds of the amount appropriated is allotted to each State according to the ratio the population of each State bears to the population of the United States, weighted by the relative per capita income for each State. One-third (1/3) of the amount appropriated is allotted to each State according to the ratio of beneficiaries in the State receiving benefits under Childhood Disabilities Beneficiary Program, related to the age 18 to 65 population of the State as bearing on the national total of such population, weighted by the total population of the State. The data used to compute allotments are supplied annually by the Social Security Administration and the U.S. Department of Commerce, for the three most recent consecutive years for which satisfactory data are available. The Federal share of projects supported under the State Plan may not exceed 75 percent, except for projects whose activities or products target individuals with developmental disabilities who live in urban or rural poverty areas, which may not exceed 90 percent of the aggregate necessary costs of such project of activities, and in the case of projects or activities undertaken by the Council or Council staff to implement State plan priority, activities may be up to 100 percent of the aggregate necessary cost of such activities. No match is required for Protection and Advocacy allotments.

Covered Services & Activities: Cash grants, work opportunities and other services are made directly to needy families with children. States, Territories, or Tribes have broad flexibility to use the grant funds in any manner that meets the purposes of the program (including providing low-income households with assistance in meeting home heating and cooling costs) and in ways that the State, Territory and Tribe was authorized to use funds received under the predecessor Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), Job Opportunities and Basic Skills Training (JOBS) and Emergency Assistance (EA) programs. States and Territories may also transfer a limited portion of their assistance grant funds to the Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG) and Social Services Block Grant (SSBG) Programs. Not more than 15 percent of any grant may be spent on administrative costs, exclusive of certain computerization and information technology expenses. For Tribal TANF programs an administrative cap will be defined in the final rules which are pending publication.

Applicant Eligibility: In general, all States, Territories, the District of Columbia, and all Tribes, as defined by the Indian Self-Determination Act, are eligible except in Alaska, where only 13 specified entities are eligible. State and local agencies and Tribes that operate TANF programs must do so under plans determined to be complete or approved by the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS). For contingency funds, all States and the District of Columbia are eligible if they are determined to be a “needy State” by satisfying either an unemployment trigger or a food stamp trigger. Territories and Tribes are not eligible for Supplemental funds. Eligibility for the High Performance Bonus is based on performance in certain criteria as determined by the Secretary. Eligibility for the Decrease in Illegitimacy Bonus is based on available statistical data.

Beneficiary Eligibility: Needy families with children, as determined eligible by the State, Territory or Tribe in accordance with the State or Tribal plan submitted to the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS).

Flow of Funds: The TANF program has Maintenance-of-Effort (MOE) requirements. To receive their full allocation, States must demonstrate they are spending on activities related to TANF 80 percent of the amount of nonfederal funds they spent in FY 94 on AFDC and related programs. If they meet minimum work participation requirements, their mandatory State effort is reduced to 75 percent. There are no matching or maintenance-of-effort requirements for Tribes. For contingency funds, States must maintain maintenance of effort and provide a State match at the fiscal year 1995 Federal Medical Assistance Percentage rate (FMAP). The assistance grant may be reduced for failure to meet any of 15 different program and fiscal requirements. Penalties may be waived for reasonable cause or upon implementation of an approved corrective action plan.

Not more than 2 percent of the total Discretionary funds of the Child Care and Development Fund are reserved for Tribes, Tribal Organizations, and Alaska Native organizations and not more than one-half of 1 percent of the total funds is reserved for the Territories. In addition to mandating a wide range of procedural safeguards, case planning, and review activities, IV-E authorizes open-ended federal reimbursement to states for foster care maintenance payments for eligible children; adoption assistance for eligible “special needs” children, and administrative and training activities related to the implementation of Title IV-E.

Indian Health Care Improvement Act

Authorization: Title 25, Chapter 18 (Indian Health Care), Sec. 2023 (Early childhood development program)

Contact Agency: Indian Health Service; a subagency of the Department of Health and Human Services
www.ihs.gov

The Indian Health Service (IHS) is responsible for providing federal health services to American Indians and Alaska Natives. The IHS is the principal federal health care provider and health advocate for Indian people, and its goal is to assure that comprehensive, culturally acceptable personal and public health services are available and accessible to American Indian and Alaska Native people. The IHS also has a direct contracting process (aside from Indian Health Care Improvement Act funds) through which Tribes can establish various health care programs, including early childhood mental health.

Objectives: The Secretary shall provide grants to tribes, tribal organizations, and consortia of tribes and tribal organizations to fund early childhood development programs (children under 6 years of age) that are operated by such tribes, organizations, or consortia.

*H.R. 3397, Indian Health Care Improvement Act Amendments of 2000, reauthorized the Indian Health Care Improvement Act (IHCIA), which is set to expire September 30, 2000. These amendments decentralized Federal health care programs for Native Americans and increased the role that tribes play in administering such programs. The legislation also increased funding for offices of the Indian Health Service and gave those offices greater autonomy in spending resources. Many of the programs and projects were made contractible only to tribes and tribal organizations. The legislation also sought to improve facilities where Native Americans receive care and to expand opportunities for them to receive care at home. The Indian Health Care Improvement Act will come under review again this fall.

Covered Services & Activities: The early childhood development programs shall coordinate existing programs and may provide services that meet identified needs of parents and children under 6 years of age which are not being met by existing programs, including— prenatal care, nutrition education, health education and screening, educational testing, and other educational services, and may include instruction in the language, art, and culture of the tribe.

Objectives: To improve diets of low-income households by increasing their food purchasing ability.

Covered Services & Activities: Households receive food stamp benefits which varies according to household size and income. The maximum allotment for a household's size is reduced by 30 percent of the net income. Food stamp benefits may be used in participating retail stores to buy food for home consumption and garden seeds and plants to produce food for personal consumption. In certain remote areas of Alaska, recipients may use food stamp benefits to purchase hunting and fishing equipment (excluding equipment for transportation, clothing and shelter, firearms, ammunition and other explosives), for procurement of food. Food stamp benefits may be used by certain elderly and handicapped persons, and their spouses, who cannot prepare their own meals to have meals delivered to them in their homes by authorized meal delivery services. Elderly and certain disabled persons and their spouses may also use food stamp benefits to purchase meals in establishments providing communal dining for the elderly. Drug addicts and alcoholics who are participating in approved rehabilitation programs may use food stamp benefits to purchase meals prepared by the program. Disabled or blind persons receiving benefits under Titles I, II, X, XIV, or XVI of the Social Security Act may use food stamp benefits to purchase meals prepared and served under certain group living arrangements. Residents of shelters for battered women and children may use food stamp benefits to purchase meals prepared by shelters. Homeless persons eligible for food stamp benefits may purchase prepared meals from an authorized establishment approved to feed them. As provided by Public Law 105-18, States have the option to pay the cost of providing food stamps to non-citizens made ineligible for them by welfare reform (Public Law 104-193), and to individuals disqualified by the new work requirement included in welfare reform. As of September 1999, 9 states (California, Illinois, Maine, Maryland, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, Washington, and Wisconsin) are operating State option programs to provide food stamp benefits to some or all otherwise eligible non-citizens.

Applicant Eligibility: The State or U.S. Territory agency responsible for federally aided public assistance programs submits requests for funding to USDA's Food and Nutrition Service.

Beneficiary Eligibility: Households may participate if they are found by local welfare officials to be in need of food assistance. Examples include most households who are receiving some form of welfare assistance, or are unemployed, part-time employed, working for low wages, or living on limited pensions. Eligibility is based on family size, income, and level of resources. Able-bodied adults with certain limited exceptions must meet a work requirement.

Flow of Funds: Department of Agriculture pays 100 percent of the cost of benefits to individuals and households. The statistical factors used to set benefit levels are: 1. Cost of the thrifty food plan and the source is the Center for Nutrition Policy and Promotion; and 2. the Consumer Price Index (CPI) and components of the CPI (national, except for territories outside continental United States) and the source is the Bureau of Labor Statistics (CPI for urban wage earners and clerical workers annually). The statistical factor used for eligibility is nonfarm poverty income guidelines and the source is the Federal poverty guidelines (modified).

Covered Services & Activities: Title I of the Job Training Partnership Act establishes the structure for the local service delivery system and planning requirements. Title I also sets forth additional State responsibilities. It provides policies and procedures for the development and implementation of performance standards and defines basic program and administrative requirements under the Act. Title II-B contains a separate authorization for a summer youth employment and training program.

Applicant Eligibility: States. Sections 202, 252 and 262 of JTPA identify the Governor as the recipient of basic Title II training program funds. Under Sections 101 and 105 of the Act,

Of the total grant allotted to each State, the Governor allocated 77 percent to the service delivery areas for training services. The remaining 23 percent of the grant was available as follows: 8 percent for State education coordination and grants; 5 percent for incentive grants and technical assistance to service delivery areas; 5 percent for the Governor's training program for older workers; and 5 percent for other State training programs, State administrative and auditing costs, and funding of the State Job Training Coordinating Council. Matching is required for 100 percent of the 8 percent education grants. Title II-B: A summer youth employment and training program is authorized separately by Title II-B. FEDERAL DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT www.hud.gov

Community Development Block Grants/State's Program (14.228)

Authorization: Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, Title I, as amended, Public Law 93-383, 88 Stat. 633, 42 U.S.C. 5301.

Contact Agency: Community Planning and Development, Department of Housing and Urban Development
www.hud.gov/cpd/cpdhome.html

Objectives: The primary objective of this program is the development of viable urban communities by providing decent housing, a suitable living environment, and expanding economic opportunities, principally for persons of low and moderate income.

Covered Services & Activities: States develop their own programs and funding priorities. Each State may elect to administer Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds for areas which do not receive CDBG entitlement grants (14.218). If a State were to decide to stop administering the CDBG program, the funds that would have been allocated to the State would be reallocated among the other States. In States which elect to administer the nonentitlement funds, HUD awards the formula grants to the States under the CDBG/State's Program. All States except Hawaii administer CDBG funding for nonentitlement areas through the State

CDBG Program. In States which do not elect to administer the nonentitlement funds, HUD awards competitive grants to units of general local government under the CDBG/Small Cities Program (14.219). Each State may use $100,000 plus up to two percent of its grant to administer the program and must match each Federal dollar in excess of $100,000 used for administration with a dollar of its own. Each State may use up to one percent of its grant to provide technical assistance to local governments and nonprofit program recipients. Units of general local government funded by the State may undertake a wide range of activities directed toward neighborhood vitalization, economic development, or provision of improved community facilities and services. Specific activities that can be carried out with block grant funds include acquisition of real property, relocation and demolition, rehabilitation of residential and nonresidential structures, direct assistance to facilitate and expand homeownership among persons of low and moderate income, and provision of public facilities and improvements, such as water and sewer facilities, streets, and neighborhood centers. In addition, block grant funds may be used to pay for certain public services within certain limits. Neighborhood-based nonprofit organizations, local development corporations, Small Business Investment Companies, or other nonprofit organizations serving the development needs on nonentitlement areas may act as subgrantees to carry out neighborhood revitalization or community economic development projects in furtherance of block grant objectives. Recipients may provide assistance to for-profit entities when the recipient determines that the provision of such assistance is appropriate to carry out an economic development project. The projected use of funds must be developed to give maximum feasible priority to activities which benefit low-and moderate-income persons or aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight and the projected use of funds may also include activities which the applicant certifies are designed to meet other community development needs having a particular urgency because existing conditions pose a serious and immediate threat to the health or welfare of the community where other financial resources are not available to meet such needs. The aggregate use of over a period specified by the State, but not exceeding three years, must ensure that not less than 70 percent of the funds received benefit low and moderate income persons.

Applicant Eligibility: State governments. States must distribute the funds to units of general local government in nonentitlement areas.

Beneficiary Eligibility: The principal beneficiaries of CDBG funds are low and moderate income persons. For metropolitan areas, low and moderate income is generally defined as a member of a family having an income equal to or less than the Section 8 low income limit established by HUD. For non-metropolitan areas, low and moderate income is generally defined as 80 percent of the median income for non-metropolitan areas of the State, as adjusted by family size.

Flow of Funds: (1) Allocations to States are based on a dual formula under Section 106 of the Act using statistical factors. Allocations for each State are based on an amount equaling the greater of the amounts calculated under two formulas. The factors involved in the first formula are population, extent of poverty and extent of overcrowding, weighted 0.25, 0.50, and 0.25, respectively. The factors involved in the second formula are population, poverty, and age of housing, weighted 0.20, 0.30, and 0.50, respectively. The statistical factors used for fund allocation are (1) total resident population for all places in the nation from the 1990 Census; estimated (2) number of persons with incomes below the poverty level from the 1990 Census; (3) number of housing units with 1.01 or more persons per room from the source 1990 Census; and (4) age of housing; number of year-round housing units built in 1939 or earlier from the source 1990 Census. The statistical factors for each State have been reduced to reflect only the non-entitled area; that is, the State area excluding metropolitan cities and urban counties. Address questions concerning the formula to Robert Meehan, Systems Development and Evaluation Division, Office of Executive Services, Community Planning and Development, 451 7th Street, SW., Washington, DC 20410. Telephone: (202) 708-0790. (The amount of non-entitlement funds allocated to a State is not affected by whether the State or HUD administers the fund in that State.)

Objectives: To develop viable urban communities, by providing decent housing and a suitable living environment, and by expanding economic opportunities, principally for persons of low and moderate income.

Covered Services & Activities: Recipients may undertake a wide range of activities directed toward neighborhood revitalization, economic development, and provision of improved community facilities and services. Entitlement communities develop their own programs and funding priorities as long as programs/activities conform to the statutory standards and program regulations. Some of the specific activities that can be carried out with Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds include acquisition of real property, relocation and demolition, rehabilitation of residential and nonresidential structures, provision of public facilities and improvements, such as water and sewer facilities which require reviews by the State single point of contact or a Regional Planning Agency in accordance with Executive Order 12372, streets, and neighborhood centers. In addition, CDBG funds may be used to pay for public services within certain limits. Recipients may contract with other local agencies or nonprofit organizations to carry out part or all of their programs. Community-based development organizations may carry out neighborhood revitalization, community economic development or energy conservation projects to further achieve the national objectives of the CDBG program. Recipients may provide assistance to microenterprises or other for-profit entities when the recipient determines that the provision of such assistance is appropriate to carry out an economic development project. All eligible activities must either benefit low- and moderate-income persons, aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight, or meet other community development needs having a particular urgency.

Applicant Eligibility: Cities in Metropolitan Areas designated by OMB as a central city of the Metropolitan Area; other cities over 50,000 in Metropolitan Areas; and qualified urban counties of at least 200,000 (excluding the population in entitlement cities located within the boundaries of such counties) are eligible to receive CDBG entitlement grants determined by a statutory formula.

Beneficiary Eligibility: The principal beneficiaries of CDBG funds are low- and moderate-income persons (generally defined as a member of a family having an income equal to or less than the Section 8 low income limit established by HUD). The grantee must certify that at least 70 percent of the grant funds received during a 1, 2, or 3-year period, that it designates, are expended for activities that will principally benefit low- and moderate-income persons.

Flow of Funds: Entitlements are based on a dual formula under Section 106 of the Act using statistical factors. Each metropolitan city and urban county is entitled to receive an amount equaling the greater of the amounts calculated under two formulas. The factors involved in the first formula are population, extent of poverty and extent of overcrowded housing, weighted 0.25, 0.50, and 0.25, respectively. The factors involved in the second formula are population growth lag, poverty, and age of housing, weighted 0.20, 0.30, and 0.50, respectively. The statistical factors used for fund allocation are (1) total resident population from the 1998 Census of Population and Housing; (2) number of persons with incomes below the poverty level from the source 1990 Census; (3) number of housing units with 1.01 or more persons per room from the source 1990 Census; (4) age of housing; number of year-round housing units built in 1939 or earlier from the source 1990 Census; (5) growth lag; the lag in population growth as computed from population in 1960 to current population estimate from the source 1960 Census and P25, Census Report. Statistical factors used for eligibility are (1) metropolitan city; central city of a Metropolitan Statistical Area or city within MA with 50,000 population from the source Census and OMB; (2) urban county; generally, counties in MSA having a net population of 200,000 or more excluding entitlement cities from the source Census and OMB. Questions concerning the formula should be addressed to Robert Meehan, Systems Development and Evaluation Division, Office of Executive Services, Community Planning and Development, 451 7th Street SW., Washington, DC 20410. FUNDING SOURCE:

STATE AND LOCAL

Most of this appendix discusses federal funds as potential financing resources for providing early childhood mental health services. These funds are subject to federal rules and regulations. However, additional services are funded solely by state and local revenues. This section describes a number of these possible resources.

State Matching Funds: Some federal funding streams require states (and/or localities) to furnish a specific amount of match dollars for every dollar received from the federal government. In some cases regulations require these match dollars to be used in the same way as the federal dollars (e.g. Medicaid). Others give flexibility to the state in how they use these dollars (e.g. Maternal and Child Health Block Grant). In fact states occasionally overmatch federal funds based on historical funding patterns or other factors. Programs like TANF require states to continue their historical level of maintenance of effort funds. Many of these match dollars can be targeted for related services such as early childhood mental health prevention or treatment. States can use specially enacted trust funds or revolving funds to ensure the money is used for a specific purpose.

Special Education and Other Education Funds: Every state funds programs for the provision of special education and related services for children with handicaps. All state and local programs must operate within the federal requirements set forth by the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), but states have some latitude as to the population that must be served and how services will be delivered. Each state distributes funds differently for special education programs, and the state and local share of the program costs also varies from state to state. State special education programs are administered by the state education agency, which should be able to provide further information on the services available under state and locally funded programs. State or local early intervention services may be administered by the education agency or another agency, such as health or human resources.

Public Health/Mental Health Funds: States and localities provide and fund a variety of services for young children in addition to federally funded programs such as Medicaid and Title V Maternal and Child Health programs ranging from well baby clinics to residential facilities and intensive case management services. Many of these programs are targeted to young children and their families. Often, they are operated by local public health agencies or community mental health centers.

Legislative Appropriations: For a variety of reasons, state and local governments make funds and services available to meet the special needs of certain children or other specific target groups. For example, communities with high incidences of lead poisoning or people living with HIV and AIDS try to meet the particular needs of children facing these issues by combining their own funds with appropriations from state and federal government. Also, several states combine a number of healthy, social service, mental health and other services into a consolidated state agency for children.

Child Welfare/Foster Care/Protective Services Funds: Primary responsibility for providing services to children in the protective service and foster care system rests with state and local agencies. In some cases, children served by these systems also become eligible for services from other state programs such as Medicaid. Many of the services available to children in the child welfare system may be identical to the early intervention services listed in an Individual Family Service Plan (IFSP). Maximizing use of these potential resources requires close collaboration at the state and local levels.

Mental Retardation/Developmental Disabilities Funds: Similar to the other potential funding resources described in the section, states and some localities, provide numerous services for children with developmental disabilities which overlap early intervention and preschool services.

Special Targeted Revenues: When a strong need to provide a particular set of services arises in a state, the governor and legislature may use an alternative funding methodology instead of more traditional taxing powers. For example, using a percentage of income generated by state lottery, or asking taxpayers to designate a portion of their potential income tax refund for a particular cause by checking a box on their state income tax return form.

University-Based Cooperative Extension Programs: Most universities house cooperative extension programs aimed at benefiting communities through partnerships with various state and community agencies. These educational programs, often based on research information from the university, are developed and implemented by faculty working in the field with support from university-based specialists.

Unclaimed Estate Monies/Property: States have legal mechanisms for accumulating unclaimed personal assets acquired when individuals have not met the legal requirements of recording a will in the appropriate place and/or proving that it is valid.

NON- GOVERNMENTAL

Even with the extensive array of services found within an early childhood mental health system of care that are provided or funded by governments at all levels, a major portion of the needs of these families can be met by organizations and agencies in the private sector. While all agencies face some government regulations, these non-governmental organizations are generally free to decide who they will serve and what services they will provide. Since these resources are critical to an early childhood mental health system of care, planners must learn which agencies offer which constellation of services to young children and their families, and include many of them in the systems they are developing.

Private Insurance: Many families are covered by private insurance policies, either provided through their employers or purchased independently. Insurance policies vary widely. Group policies tend to offer broader coverage with fewer restrictions. Individual insurance policies are not often available for children with special needs, or may exclude conditions relating to children's mental health. Many large employers are self-insurance and, due to the federal Employment Retirement Income and Security Act law, they cannot be regulated by state insurance commissions. While these self-insurers may limit the services they will cover, they are also free to make exceptions to their general policies and provide any specific service for the child of an employee.

Health Maintenance Organizations and Other Managed Care Providers: HMOs are similar to private insurance providers in that they offer medical and related coverage, but they also provide most covered services directly. HMO participants are usually limited to seeking services for providers who participate in the HMO. Some plans utilize a preferred provider concept, where coverage is available from participating providers, but members are free to use other providers if they are willing to pay a higher share of the cost.

Foundations and Corporate Giving Programs: Most communities have a number of families and local businesses that establish foundations to assist charitable causes in their communities. They often can be approached to assist with the development of needed services in their communities or to help pay for services not available in the community for a particular child. Many businesses also set aside a portion of their profits for local charities. Larger foundations and businesses also can be approached, but generally require a formal written application and may publish a list of funding priorities. Look for those organizations that are interested in funding mental health and health programs for young children. In addition to established corporations or foundations, recent developments have led to the availability of monies from the sale or merger of hospitals. When the hospital gives up its nonprofit status, funds the corporation had are often made available for community service initiatives.

Social Organizations/Voluntary Service Organizations/Faith Community: This category refers to organizations in all communities which may be founded for a variety of purposes (social, service, recreation, etc.) that take on service projects on a regular or periodic basis. For example, Lions Clubs raise funds and provide services for the blind and Shriners provide an extensive array of services targeted towards children with physical challenges. Churches, synagogues, and other faith community organizations undertake numerous service projects in their communities. They often can be called upon to fund or arrange for services for which no other funding source can be identified.

Fee-for-Service/Sliding Scales: Fee-for-service refers to an agreed upon charge for professional services rendered that covers the costs or some portion of the cost of providing the service; a sliding scale reflects a range of charges adjusted to the needs or income of individuals receiving services.
